What We're Learning

We are learning classroom and school rules and procedures. The students have a great understanding of expectations, even if they don't always remember to practice them. 😊

We are spending time getting to know each other. The students are happy to be back together as a class and have been very welcoming to our four new students!

Thank you to the anonymous parent(s) who bought two sets of classic Legos for our room. These will be a hit on "rainy day" recess days. Check out the cupcakes near the front office if you would like to purchase something for our class. 😊
